

Contest Rules

1. Make sure that your name, age, mailing address, telephone number, e-mail address, the name of your school and the grade/year you are in are identified on your composition.
2. Your composition should be no more than 500 words in length (2 pages, double-spaced). It should be either in digital format (word, rtf, pdf, ascii) or typed. Hand written compositions will not be accepted.
3. All compositions must be submitted no later than April 30, 2003
4. Schools or individual students may submit student essays
 - by e-mail: contest@pori.tut.fi or
 - via the web site, www.pori.tut.fi/etrain/contest.
5. All compositions submitted must represent personal efforts.
6. It is recommended that all compositions be submitted in English, but those written in Finnish will also be accepted. (No other languages will be accepted.)
7. This writing competition is open to students in two age groups;
 - i) students aged 12 to 15 yrs.
 - ii) students aged 16 to 19 yrs.

In Europe and all over the world the winning entry will demonstrate

- evidence of creativity and/or research
- correct use of terminology
- an understanding of current technology
- inventive application of current technology to the future
- competent use of word processing with a minimum of errors

Living in a Wireless World

Writing contest

We live in a world that is evolving toward wireless technologies in the field of communication and in other areas. What is in the future? Young people often have fresh, innovative ideas. In order to make these ideas known, we are sponsoring an international writing contest on the subject, "Living in a Wireless World."

You can write from a technological or social perspective - create your own subtitle. The composition can be written from a scientific viewpoint or it can be a work of fiction. Let your imagination run wireless! How will people live in a wireless world?

Prizes

Prizes include the latest model Nokia mobile phone incorporating a digital camera, tickets to Pori Jazz 2003 concerts and Pori Jazz t-shirts. Prizes are sponsored by Satakunnan Puhelin Oy and Pori Jazz.

Compositions

Submitted compositions will be reviewed for eligibility and prizes. Prizes will be awarded during the eTrain 2003 conference on July 10th in Pori, Finland. Prize winners will be notified in advance by eTrain organizers. Selected compositions will be published on the eTrain 2003 website and in the conference manual. All submitted compositions will become the copyright of eTrain 2003.

NATIONAL BOARD OF EDUCATION

Satakunnan Puhelin Oy

ADVANCED MULTIMEDIA CENTER

IFIP

